Planners End Year-long Battle; Approve Subdivision

Ho, ho, ho

This jolly man was kept busy in Andover this weekend. Andover children had ample opportunity to talk to Santa and let him know what they want to find under their trees Dec. 25.

By Frank Messina

Ending a year-long battle, the Andover Planning Board unanimously approved the Watson Farm Estates subdivision Tuesday night.

Although the scope of the proposed 13-lot housing complex isn't huge—even by Andover standards—the concerns of one family over losing ground, literally, to the project raised questions that only time, town hall experts and environmental studies could answer.

In the end, though, all that was needed to satisfy both Rosemarie Webb and Joe Watson was a single paragraph.

The basic problem centered on Webb's fears that rain runoff from Watson's subdivision located near Indian Ridge on Dascomb Road, would wash away her property, which abuts a swale leading to the main drainage system along Dascomb.

Although experts hired by Watson and Town Engineer John Avery agreed that little danger of major erosion existed, Webb said she wanted assurances that someone

Sunday Walk At Reservation

The Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club invites the public to participate in a special event Sunday, Dec. 13. A walk through the Purdon Reservation will end at Rogers Dell for a tree-trimming party and the dedication of a bronze plaque to the memory of Louise van Everen.

Van Everen's longtime devotion to the outdoors bore many fruits, including the formation of the Andover Committee of the AMC and the restoration of Rogers Dell from a dump site to a well-maintained picnic ground. Participants are asked to bring an all-weather ornament to place on the tree in the dell.

Meet in the South Church parking lot on Central Street at 1:30 p.m. Hot drinks will be served in Rogers Dell. For more information, call Barbara Coffman.

"Feel Great in '88" is the title and message behind the American Institute for Cancer Research's 1988 health tips calendar which provides a collection of recipes, health information and practical suggestions for healthier living.

Because the American Institute for Cancer Research focuses its research and education programs on reducing cancer risk through diet and nutrition, many of the health tips, including recipes, provide easy-to-follow nutritional information for lower cancer risk.

The calendar also provides a variety of other health information, including pointers on stress reduction and the positive effects of sensible exercise programs.

Although there is no charge for this special calendar, the institute requests a donation, if possible, to help support its research and education programs. A copy of the calendar may be ordered by writing to the American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. FG88, Washington, D.C. 20069.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Newborns don't like all the fuss of being dressed and undressed, and shouldn't have to put up with fancy clothes, except perhaps for one high-style occasion such as christening. Shirts and diapers are the basics. Kimonos and nightgowns help keep your baby cozy. Sacques give her a more "dressed" look and so do the "stretchie" coveralls that have become a mainstay of so many baby wardrobes. One additional item you'll want if your baby arrives in cold weather is an all-in-one blanket-sleeper. The important thing to keep in mind is not to overdress the baby.

There is a wonderful selection of baby furniture at TINY TOTLAND. We have everything from pacifiers to strollers. Over 80 cribs on display. Wall decor and lamps. Babies toys for all ages... everything from "heaven to seven". Ask about our free lay-a-way plan. Delivery service. Stop in soon at TINY TOTLAND, 1111 Elm St., Manchester, N.H. Chamber Increases Personnel Laurence R. Smith, executive vice president of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, announced the appointment of two new members to the chamber's staff; Ron Mills, manager of government affairs, and Wil Carpenter, manager of marketing and member services. "These two professionals will significantly enhance the chamber's services to its members and mark a new, more aggressive and responsive reorganization of the chamber's program," he said.

Mills, 39, will handle the newly expanded government affairs program. He is the former director of public affairs for Associated Industries of Massachusetts, former executive vice president of the Foundation for Economic Research and ran his own consulting business in Needham.

Ron fills a new post on our staff," Smith explained. "We are committed to increasing the business community's involvement in the formation of public policy. Emphasis will be on local needs, but will also focus on those state and federal issues that impact local business, professional and industrial concerns. As manager of government affairs, Mills will work closely with our membership to improve communications between business and government as well as assist in getting our voice heard on key issues affecting the ability of the private sector to provide jobs, income, revenues, goods and services for the people and communities of this area."

Carpenter, 35, will work on marketing the chamber and its services to the growing business, professional and industrial community. He will work with the Andover Center Association and Lawrence Central Business District Association in helping to develop and implement promotional activities.

Carpenter was the marketing coordinator for Yankee Contract Services in New Hampshire and served as the area's local government sales consultant for Wang Labs. Prior to pursuing a career in sales and marketing, Carpenter was the program manager for Wang's support excellence program.

Carpenter will work with existing members of the chamber as well as untapped sectors of the business community and encourage chamber membership as a proven means of helping to develop a strong local economy.

Fashion Show Raises $7,000

More than 525 area women and men were treated to an afternoon of glitter, glamour and glitz at a fashion show by fashion entrepreneur Yolanda at the Andover Marriot last month.

The event raised nearly $7,000 to benefit Creative Living, Inc., a local group that seeks to establish residential homes for adult retarded citizens.

Guests enjoyed champagne and dinner before the show. Yolanda introduced each fashion.

"Every new fashion was a heartstopper," said Lucille Giannone, the show's co-chairperson and treasurer for Creative Living, Inc., "The enthusiastic response to the show and the champagne luncheon were fantastic. Creative Living thanks everyone for helping to raise much needed funds which enable us to continue our goal of helping the adult retarded in our communities."

Fifteen prizes were raffled off, including the grand prize of "A Day of Beauty" at Yolanda salons. Local businesses donated gifts, helping to raise more than $1,800.

Creative Living extends thanks to everyone who helped make the show possible, including committee members Sonia Gildea and Joan Dow for ticket management, Ann Concemi for decorations, Patricia Recesso for organizing the raffle and co-chairpersons Lucille Giannone and Rosalie Ruggiero. Other committee members included Ida Capriole, Phyllis Edwards, Connie Gaudet, Patricia Kiley, Betty Kidwell, Mary Mascola, Inez Palone, Laurelle Parrotta, Patricia Boutin and Lillian Valenti.

The 1987 membership drive for Creative Living, Inc. recently got underway. An information brochure is available from Classic Threads, 447 Essex St., Lawrence.

Childbirth Preparation Class At Y

The Andover-North Andover YMCA has announced the addition of childbirth preparation classes to be held at their facility on Wednesdays from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. beginning January 13.

Participants will learn about the physical, psychological, sexual and emotional aspects of pregnancy, birth and early parenting. Tools will be provided to help cope with labor and birth, including intensive breathing and relaxation techniques and coaching skills. The class will help parents clarify their values and take responsibility for the birth of their child.

Major topics include choices in childbirth, attunement with pregnancy, understanding giving birth, attunement during labor and delivery, difficulties in birth giving, focusing on the baby and becoming parents.

For further information, call the YMCA.

Andover-Lawrence Team Places First In Bowl

The Spanish Academic Bowl was begun this year under the direction of the Greater Lawrence Educational Collaborative. Students from Andover, Haverhill, Lawrence, Methuen and North Andover participated in a series of competitions that put students from opposing schools on the same team. In a typical competition, the Andover-Lawrence team took on the Haverhill-Methuen team.

Questions in Spanish dealt with categories such as culture, history, current events and math. Precision was required and correct pronunciation expected by moderator James Couch, retired Spanish instructor from Phillips Academy.

It was a learning experience in the study of Spanish and social awareness. Working with other communities gave students and teachers an opportunity to take Spanish beyond the classroom.

Haverhill High School hosted the final match Nov. 23. All-Star game students enjoyed Mexican food and awards were distributed by James McConaughy from the collaborative. The Andover-Lawrence team placed first with an undefeated record.

West Goes To Canada

The outdoor education program at West Junior High School will lead a group of seventh, eighth and ninth grade students on a tour of French Canada (Montreal and Quebec City) during February school vacation week.

The four-day, three-night tour will include accommodations, evening activities and a variety of meals blended with a sightseeing, guided tour of the historical and cultural highlights of this unique region of North America.

"La Belle Province" is living testimony of Quebec's French heritage. Montreal, Canada's largest city, is the largest French-speaking metropolis outside Paris. Quebec City is the only walled city on the continent. Less than a day's drive away and with a favorable exchange rate for shopping, the Province of Quebec boasts some of the most colorful sights in Canada and presents them with charming Gallic flair.

Tour highlights include a sleigh ride, "sugaring off" party and multi-course Quebecois lumberjack feast with traditional music and entertainment at La Succrerie de la Montagne; an escorted tour of the Olympic stadium, pool and velodrome at the site of the 1976 summer Olympic Games; dinner at La Difference restaurant, specializing in French cuisine; an evening at Le Roulatheque, a unique discotheque on wheels; tour of Notre Dame-de-Montreal, the largest and most magnificent church in French Canada; souvenir hunting in modern Place Quebec, the province's largest shopping mall; and togagging with inner tubes at Le Village des Sportes.

The group will travel by deluxe motor coach, departing from West Junior High School parking lot on Sunday, Feb. 14, and return on Wednesday, Feb. 17.

College Remembered™

Distinguished mirrors.
A perpetual remembrance of those happy years

We offer hand-painted scenes of landmark buildings at virtually EVERY four-year American College. Medical and law schools. Each is an original work created exclusively by Eglomise Designs of Boston

You are cordially invited to view our display of University Series paintings.

WHAT DOES TERM "EGLOMISE" MEAN?

Eglomise is a centuries-old technique of painting on the reverse side of glass. Although Architectural detail and lettering are kept uniform by silk screening, the coloring of our buildings and landscaping is hand-painted. As a result, the tones and the shading of each painting vary from rendering to another. And the "eglomise" technique has a distinct look all its own. Incidentally, the name "eglomise" is derived from Jean Baptiste Glom, an eighteenth century French artist, who is generally given credit for inventing this technique and girls' basketball teams. The first games will be December 18 against Lawrence at home.

West Junior High School held their annual Thanksgiving assembly Tuesday, Nov. 24, the only school in the Andover school system to have such an assembly. There were great performances by the West Junior High School band, orchestra and choral group, West Side Singers. Turkeys were given randomly to seventh, eighth and ninth graders.

The yearbook staff elected its editorial staff for the 1987-88 school year: Jennifer Wu and Chris Fletcher, editors-in-chief; Julia Worcester and Suzy Sharpe, photo editors; Heather Bryce and Kathy Kim, prophecy editors; Allyson Bates and Patrick Mahoney, art editors; Patty Murphy and Dallas Babineau, fundraising/advertising editors. The editorial staff of the school newspaper, "West Side Story," are: Tracey Goodman and Heather Bryce, editors-in-chief; Christina Zappala, layout editor; Tracey Westaway and Michelle Dilegro, photo editors; Julie Shea, special features editor; Chris Davis, Ryan Beal and Tony Crooks, sports editors.

An activity night was held at the school on Friday, Dec. 4. Students were able to participate in basketball, volleyball, floor hockey and ping pong. There was a great turnout and everyone seemed to have a good time.

Holiday Traditions Bancroft Preserves

The Bancroft School community will ring in the holiday season with two traditions, the holiday concert and the annual mitten drive.

The sixth grade chorus, the Bancroft band and elementary chamber strings will present their Sounds of the Season program at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 10. All Bancroft families are invited.

The annual mitten drive runs to December 23 and is a joint activity for Partners in Pride from lofts one and four. Each student is asked to bring in a hat, pair of mittens or scarf wrapped and marked with a tag stating whether it is for a boy or girl and the age or size. These are placed under the

Montessori School

The Andover School of Montessori is sponsoring a community service project during December to help children in need in the local area. Each family has been asked to donate a pair of children's mittens which are being hung up in a decorative fashion during the drive. Students are bringing in warm outer clothing and sweaters to be donated to the Women's Resource Center in Lawrence which will distribute the clothing during the holiday season. The Women's Resource Center is a non-profit agency serving women and children in the Greater Lawrence area who are victims of domestic violence.

Already dozens of pairs of mittens greet those who enter the school's foyer, each affixed with the name of the child who donated them. Parents have gathered children's snowsuits, jackets, overshoes, hats, scarves and sweaters in perfect or nearly-new condition.

Parent volunteers will deliver the clothes prior to school vacation. The children, who range in age from 2 years 9 months to 6 years, are enthusiastic about the project, so much so that teachers have had to dissuade a few children from adding the clothing off their own backs.

Andover School of Montessori is a non-profit, parent-run preschool and kindergarten located at 180 Main St., North Andover. For more information, call Robin Johansen, administrator.

tree in the media center. At the holiday assembly on December 23, representatives of the Marine Corps, in conjunction with their "Toys for Tots" campaign, accept the gifts.

Trees

A free brochure, Conservation Trees, is available from The National Arbor Day Foundation to assist in planning for tree-planting projects next spring.

The brochure uses colorful photos and illustrations and easy-to-understand descriptions to guide tree planting and care.

There are sections on how to use windbreaks and shade trees to save energy in the home; how to attract songbirds; how to save trees during construction; how to save topsoil and help farm profits with shelterbelts; the right way to plant trees; the right way to prune trees.

For a free brochure, send name and address to: Conservation Trees, The National Arbor Day Foundation, Nebraska City, NE 68410.

The word "canopy" comes from the Greek word "konops" meaning gnat. The story goes the fishermen of ancient Egypt would sleep undisturbed by gnats by sleeping under canopies of fishing nets.

From left, Colby Dean of Faculty Douglas Archibald, with Bixler Scholar Elizabeth Murphy and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Murphy, III, of Andover.

Awarded Bixler Scholarship

Elizabeth Ann Murphy, a senior physics major at Colby College in Waterville, Maine, was awarded a Julius Seelye Bixler Scholarship at a special reception during Colby's Parents Weekend in the autumn. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Murphy III of Andover.

When Dr. Bixler retired as president of Colby in 1960, the Colby Parents Association established a scholarship program in his honor. From this gift grew the Julius Seelye Bixler Scholars program, which was expanded in 1964 when the college added a substantial bequest from Mrs. Margaret Grier Bixler of Philadelphia, Dr.

Bixler's aunt. The scholarships are awarded annually to top-ranking students in recognition of their academic achievement. Twenty-four students were awarded this year.

Colby College, which marks its 175th anniversary this year, is America's 12th oldest liberal arts college, blending traditional values with progressive ideas. Its 900-acre campus atop Mayflower Hill overlooking Waterville, provides 1,700 select undergraduates and a highly-lettered faculty of 160 with one of the nation's most scenic academic locales.

Officiated At Super Bowl

Jim Robinson of 40 Chandler Circle was selected to officiate the 1987 Super Bowl Football Game, Division II, held at Sullivan Stadium in Foxboro December 5.

The game is sanctioned by the Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Robinson has been active with the Association of New England Football Officials since 1971.

Document Center Featured

The Northeast Document Conservation Center will be featured in a new film on preservation, "Slow Fires: On the Preservation of the Human Record." The film, which will be shown nationally on PBS stations, addresses the problem of paper deterioration and with the loss of much of our national heritage as the paper that holds the printed image becomes embrittled and turns to dust. The film will be aired on WGBH Channel 2 on Friday, Dec. 18, at 11 p.m. and on Channel 44 on Wednesday, Dec. 16, at 8:30 p.m. and Saturday, Dec. 19, at 1 p.m.

As much as a quarter of all materials in university and research libraries throughout the nation are in some stage of serious deterioration. Most paper produced in this country since the mid-19th century was made from wood pulp and is acidic and in danger of complete deterioration. The nation may lose a vast portion of its recorded history by the turn of the century if steps are not taken to solve this problem.

The Northeast Document Conservation Center in Andover was founded in 1973 to help avert the quiet disaster of paper deterioration. It is a non-profit regional conservation center specializing in the conservation of paper and related materials, including books, documents, photographs and art on paper. The center's areas of expertise include conservation treatment and preservation of information through microfilming. The film features work done at NEDCC.

"Slow Fires" is narrated by Robert MacNeil of the MacNeil/Lehrer NewsHour and features commentary by writers James Michener and Barbara Tuchman. The film was produced by Terry Sanders of the American Film Foundation and sponsored by the Council on Library Resources, the Library of Congress, the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and the National Endowment for the Humanities as part of an effort to launch a national program to address the brittle paper problem.

Santa Fund Party At Backstreet

The fourth annual Santa Fund Christmas party will be held once again at Backstreet Restaurant, 19 Essex St., Friday, Dec. 18, at 11 a.m. A tax deductible donation of $25 per person is requested. All proceeds go to the Lawrence Eagle Tribune Santa's Fund, benefiting the needy children in the Merrimack Valley area.

Invitations have been extended to guests for special appearances by Derek Sanderson, Robert Ulrich, Lawrence Mayor Kevin Sullivan and Bill Maren of The Victor Companies, the celebrity Santa. Donations, gift certificates, etc., are being accepted from all local merchants to be raffled off for the benefit of this worthwhile cause.

Backstreet will host the appetizer buffet with cash bar. There will be special guest appearances from Santa's elves and helpers and surprises for everyone.

Tickets are limited. Call Backstreet Restaurant for ticket information.

William K. O'Brien

Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries, Inc. has named William K. O'Brien of Andover to its capital campaign cabinet.

As managing partner at the accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand, O'Brien's knowledge of the business community and his commitment to the Greater Boston area

Why Andover Bank is going to miss Pioneer Bank.

For many years, our neighbors at Pioneer Bank gave us some very stiff competition. Which is precisely why we at Andover Bank are dismayed at the turn of events which has caused the departure of Pioneer from the local banking scene.

Business thrives on competition. When businesses compete, they must constantly improve by solving new problems, filling new needs, or building new dreams. We hope that all our banking neighbors—old and new—will continue to provide the kind of competition that has made Andover Bank a leader in this community.

For Pioneer Bank customers who may have questions regarding the future of your banking needs, please feel free to talk to any Andover Bank customer representative, by phone or in person, at any of our convenient offices.

Peace Corps Volunteers Honored

Seventeen former Peace Corps volunteers from the Merrimack Valley joined more than 6,000 Peace Corps volunteers from 150 cities and towns on December 6 in Lecture Hall A of the Liberal Arts Building at Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill to receive the 1987 Beyond War Award.

The 120,000 past and present Peace Corps volunteers and staff were honored for their continuing efforts to seek peace through humanitarian service and to promote mutual understanding among the peoples of the United States and developing nations.

"The Peace Corps is not just an intellectual concept. It is an active and practical force, involving human beings who work with real problems affecting human life," said Tom MacLachlan of Byfield. MacLachlan, a clergyman, counselor and college teacher, coordinated the ceremony.

Former volunteer Barbara Hildt, now serving in the Massachusetts Legislature, added, "My husband, David, and I served in the Peace Corps in Brazil during the late '60s. Like most other volunteers, we brought back to this country a different view of the world and its problems. We learned to go beyond the isolated view of the world that we sometimes have in this country."

The award is presented annually by the Beyond War Foundation. Founded in 1982, Beyond War is a non-profit, non-partisan, educational movement active in 40 states and several foreign countries. Beyond War volunteers have been active in the Merrimack Valley since 1984.

Past recipients of the Beyond War Award are the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, International Physicians for the Prevention of Nuclear War, the Five Continent Peace Initiative and the Contadoro Group.

Center Opens Women's Health Suite

Andover Walk-in Medical Center, located at Doctor's Park, 138 Haverhill St., Andover, announces the opening of the Women's Health Suite, specializing in mammography services.

"The Women's Health Suite is dedicated to serving women in a sensitive and personal way with a private dressing area and waiting room. We also have professionals available to explain the procedure and answer any questions," said Patricia Palermo, administrator.

Mammography is a simple, low-dosage, x-ray screening procedure that can detect cancer during the early stages of formation.

A female radiologic technologist is assigned to accompany each woman through the mammography. Information on breast self-examination is made available. A physician and registered nurse are also in attendance. Each woman's visit is scheduled for approximately 45 minutes.

According to the American Cancer Society, mammography is one of the best defenses women have against breast cancer. The ACS advises women from ages 35 to 39 have a baseline reference mammogram; women ages 50 to 49 have a mammogram every one to two years; women over 50 years old have a mammogram yearly.

Appointments can be scheduled Monday through Saturday through a physician or by calling the center. Hours are flexible and convenient.

Macadamia nuts are also known as Australian nuts, bopple nuts, bush nuts and Queensland nuts.

Don't Give Gifts To Thieves

Holiday shoppers should take extra care to discourage car and package thieves, warns AAA. Here are some tips:

Park in a well-lighted area where people are constantly coming and going. Lock the car and take the keys. The number one targets of car thieves are sports and speciality models, so consider taking the older model family car on shopping trips.

According to the Highway Loss Data Institute, sports and speciality models are responsible for nearly 50 percent of the total dollars paid in theft claims.

If you're going to be shopping for a long time, return to your car and move it to another parking spot.

Don't leave packages or other valuables in plain view—lock them in the trunk, put them under a cargo cover if you have a hatchback model or put them under a blanket.

Film Series

Continues

On Cable TV

The Potpourri Film Series continues with a 30-minute film each week at four different times: Monday at 10 a.m., Tuesday at 2 p.m., Wednesday at 4 p.m. and Thursday at 7 p.m.

"Brooms of Mexico," using the everyday occupation of sweeping to combine the poetry of Alvin Gordon with the drawings of Ted De Grazia and live photography, is the film for the week of December 14-17.

"Loops," an early experimental film by Norman McLaren in which sound and visuals are drawn directly on the film, will also be shown.

This film series is sponsored by the Andover Cable Advisory Committee and shown on Andover Public Access Channel 11.

Christmas Fund-raiser Will Benefit Lazarus House

Participants in Justin's Christmas Fund-raiser are trying to raise $5,000 for Lazarus House of Lawrence by Dec. 21.

Committee members Gerhard Schnellinger of Justin's, Mark Kiley of Parent, Kiley and Naffah, P.C., CPAs, Ken Barry of Upkeep Cleaning Service Corp. and Dr. Joe Harrington, a psychologist who has a private practice in Andover, want to use the money for food, clothing and shelter that Lazarus House provides for the needy.

"The Christmas season affords each of us a wonderful opportunity to share, in a special way, with those less fortunate than ourselves," the committee wrote in an announcement. "It is with this thought in mind that the management and patrons of Justin's Restaurant in Andover have chosen Lazarus House in Lawrence as the object of this year's Christmas fund-raising effort."

Interested patrons of Justin's are asked to contribute $100. Each individual contributing $100 or more will be invited to a buffet and social hour at Justin's Monday, Dec. 21, from 4 to 6 p.m.

Five dollars will be taken from every $100 donation to cover the buffet. The remaining $95 will go directly to Lazarus House, as will all other contributions.

More than $1,000 was raised before Oct. 5. At this time, the fund has approximately 30 contributions, according to Harrington.

Make tax-deductible checks payable to Justin's Christmas Fund-Lazarus House. They may be left at Justin's or sent to Kiley at 800 Turnpike St., North Andover.

Choose a simple IRA now, and save the hard decisions for later.

Investing for retirement should be easy, profitable, and flexible. And that's why you should look into the new 3-year IRA from Wakefield Savings Bank.

Once you've gotten started, you can add to it whenever you like. You can even consolidate other IRA's into it. (We'll be happy to transfer IRA's from other institutions into it for you.) And the interest it pays will always be 1/4% over the 3-year U.S. Treasury rate, adjusted each month. That way, no matter what happens to interest rates, you'll always be earning a competitive yield.

So make planning for retirement as simple as it can be with a 3-year variable rate IRA from Wakefield Savings Bank. It's the kind of investment that could leave you in an enviable position.

Boston Museum Exhibit Explores Women In Science

"Women in Science," a major exhibition currently featured at the Boston Museum of Science, explores the excitement and challenges presented by careers in science and technology and examines the significant contributions of women in science throughout history.

By focusing on the lives of 12 women with careers in the fields of science and technology, this exhibition explores the issues which affect women's lives and addresses important social issues in a simple and down-to-earth approach. The exhibition depicts these highly successful women scientists as "real people," mothers, sisters, wives, daughters, who enjoy everyday things, junk food, roller coasters, movies, shopping, and also lead rewarding lives in what are considered male-dominated fields. By exploring the lives and careers of these women, the exhibition gives girls role models to whom they can readily relate.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology professor Mildred Dresselhaus, one of the featured scientists, praises the exhibition for its ability to explore the impact of society's erroneous assumptions about women's aptitudes. According to Dresselhaus, "The perception that girls cannot do as well as boys in mathematics and science is a misperception which, along with our different treatment of girls and boys in play and at school, hinders not only elementary school girls, but females of all ages and even American technology as a whole."

The exhibition's project coordinator, Val Wilcox, points out America's need for more advanced and competitive technology to compete with foreign markets. "An obvious solution," she says, "is to utilize a valuable and as yet virtually untapped scientific resource, America's female population. But, in order to make this possible, we must first change the way in which society views women and women view themselves. Even changing the way in which we depict girls and boys in storybooks, TV, movies and playthings would have profound social ramifications."

The exhibition consists of a series of interactive computer and mechanical games, quizzes and audio-visual presentations which challenge museum-goers and illustrate many of the skills necessary for careers in science. By pointing out the problems, offering real-life solutions, presenting role models with firsthand experience and highlighting the need to expose children as early as possible to the unlimited opportunities available to them, the exhibition entertains and enlightens its audience to the wonders of science.

As part of its national tour, the Women in Science exhibition, designed by the Museum of Science and Technology in Chicago with funding from the Science Museums Exhibits Collaborative, is making its final stop at the Boston Museum of Science before returning to Chicago.

In conjunction with the exhibition, a dramatic presentation, "Ada: The Bride of Science," depicting the life of a 19th-century scientist, Ada Lovelace, will be shown on weekend afternoons and school holidays. Also featured on many weekends, in conjunction with the museum camp-in program, are science demonstrations by local women's colleges and a scientist-in-residence program.

Storyteller

The traditional storyteller was known as "the seanachie" in the Irish countryside. Many of his stories were handed down from father to son, others were based on the happenings around him.

Vincent Pierce, well known seanachie from Ballydiff, County Kerry, will appear at the Hibernian Hall, 9 Appleton St., Lawrence, on Thursday, Dec. 10, at 8:30 p.m. Admission is free. The evening is sponsored by Division 8, A.O.H. and partially funded by the Lawrence Arts Lottery Committee.

Women in Science will run until Jan. 3. The Boston Museum of Science is open Tuesday through Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and until 9 p.m. on Friday.

Bells, Carols Featured In Concert

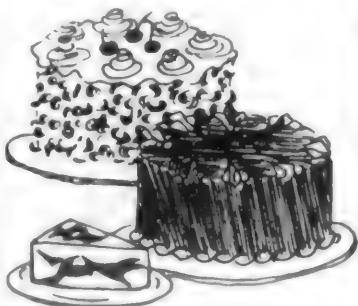

Christmas bells and old carols will be the program presented by Lillian Davis, well known bell ringer, at Sidon Hall at the United Presbyterian Church of Lawrence, 96 East Haverhill St., Sunday, Dec. 13, at 3 p.m.

"The Bells are Ringing" is not a song at the Davis household. It is a fact and the gift of Lillian Davis who has been ringing all kinds of bells since she was a child. It all started when her father bought some cow and sheep bells. Little did he know that his farm house living room would multiply from housing a small table holding cow and sheep bells to housing sleigh bells (which he had to help build), a tubular harp and Javanese chimes. Playing bells soon shifted from a family hobby to entertainment for others. Lillian appeared on the Major Bowes radio program and has played her bells on the Capitol Rotunda in Washington, D.C.

The program will present old familiar tunes on strange instruments. "Away in the Manger" will be played on the sheep bells and "The Bells of St. Mary" on the Javanese chimes. The sleigh bells will bring back memories of winter wonderlands and long ago rides on the horse-drawn sleigh through the drifted snow.

The program will be spiced with group singing, audience participation with actual handling of bells and special music requests. Davis will be accompanied by John Morse, a member of The Eliot Church where her husband is pastor.

Talented Cast Makes Annie A Success

By Melissa M. De Meo

Saturday night at Friendly Ice Cream Shop on North Main Street, a bunch of orphans walked in. They were actually from Andover Theatre Company's production of Annie and were winding down from a three-hour performance, with another to come the next day at 3 p.m.

"Were there a lot of mistakes?" a friend asked.

"Yeah," said one of the orphans. "A lot."

You'd never know. Everyone in the cast—especially the girls who played the orphans—did a great job.

The songs in Annie, particularly those belonging to the lead, are not easy to sing. "Maybe" and "Tomorrow" are full of lows and highs and are meant to be belted out. Bridget Mason gave them the treatment they deserved. Although her voice sounded a little tired as the evening wore on, the West Elementary School sixth grader gave it her all. Mason proves that singing isn't her only talent in the second act when she tap dances.

Annie

The girls Annie lives with in the New York Municipal Orphanage before finding love and family with billionaire Oliver Warbucks gave a stellar performance with "It's the Hark-knock Life" and a raucous routine with their wash buckets. Anne Haviv as the diminutive Molly and Vanessa Hill as the whining Tessie stood out.

The kids, good as they were, didn't completely outshine the adults. Maureen Brackett as the orphanage director, Miss Hannigan, was wonderful. Her version of "Little Girls," a litany of the reasons she hates her job, was memorable.

Paul John Donovan's acting as Warbucks left a little to be desired, but his singing was excellent. And Sue O'Neill brings a delightful voice and personality to her portrayal of Warbucks' secretary, Grace Farrell.

Dennis Lorne gets special mention as Rooster, Miss Hannigan's conniving brother. His "Easy Street" number with Brackett and Janet Alberich as his girlfriend, Lily, got a well-deserved round of applause.

The rest of the adults in the cast doubled and tripled as everything from tourists to Cabinet members to Hooverville-ites.

One of the most entertaining scenes was a look at a radio station in 1933. The performers gave great portrayals of the people behind-the-scenes—a radio ventriloquist, a masked announcer, a soundman who holds up applause signs for the audience and makes the sound of tap-dancing feet. Scott Hilse plays host Bert Healy, whose frustration with Warbucks' ignorance of radio is comical. The kids at the orphanage, listening to the broadcast, mimic the announcers as they sing "You're Never Fully Dressed Without a Smile."

Steven Barbas conducted a well-rehearsed orchestra that provided perfect accompaniment and between-scenes music for the show.

It's obvious the Andover Theatre Company worked hard on Annie, and it all paid off. Saturday's performance earned the group a standing ovation.

Handel And Haydn Society Presents Messiah

The Handel and Haydn Society presents its annual performance of Handel's Messiah at Symphony Hall Sunday, Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m. H&H Assistant Conductor Jeffery Rink will conduct the society's orchestra and chorus, with soloists Lorraine Hunt, Karen Lykes, Jon Humphrey and Robert Honeysucker.

Tickets are available through Teletron. Student and senior rush seats are not available for these performances.

Rink is an experienced director of both orchestral and choral works. He served as music director of the Masterworks Chorus and Orchestra Guild of Washington, D.C. and assistant conductor of the Maryland Handel Festival.

In February of 1986, Rink was appointed assistant conductor of H&H and has since directed performances of Brahms' A German Requiem at the Tremont Temple in Boston and Beethoven's Ninth Symphony on the Esplanade. He makes his Symphony Hall debut with this year's Messiah performance.

Featured Dec. 6 in Boston Globe Magazine

Concert Features Treble Chorus

Merrimack College Concerts present the Treble Chorus of New England, accompanied by the Pathagorean Orchestra, in a concert of Christmas music on Sunday, Dec. 13, at 2 p.m. at Merrimack College Chapel on the North Andover campus.

One of the concert's highlights will be the performance of "Suite on the Nativity," composed by chorus director Marie Stultz in 1980 when it had its premier. The suite is a collection of 14th and 15th century German folk carols and tells the Christmas story. Also included in the program are "Songs of Mary" by Brahms, The Echo Aria "Christmas Oratorio" by Bach and a Suite for Trumpet and Orchestra by Handel. Trumpet soloist will be William L. Dederer, dean of the Boston Conservatory. Timothy Larson, 11, of North Andover, will be the boy soprano soloist in Mendelssohn's "O for the Wings of a Dove" from the cantata "Hear my Prayer." Bill Dederer, 10, of Plaistow, N.H., will sing the solo in "Panis Angelicus."

The Treble Chorus of New England, located in the Merrimack Valley, has become one of the nation's outstanding young choruses. They were chosen to be the children's chorus at Great Woods in concert with the Pittsburgh Symphony this summer, under the direction of Michael Tilson Thomas. More recently, they were chosen to sing in Jordan Hall at a special concert performing the works of the well-known local composer, John Heiss. The concert was reviewed by Richard Dyer of the Boston Globe and the chorus was heralded as "superbly trained" for their exceptional performance.

Tickets can be reserved by calling the college and will be available at the door.

Andover participants include: Peter Bolway, son of Sandy and Fran Bolway; Shannon Canavin, daughter of Madonna Canavin; Bradford Croteau, on of Albert and Suzanne Croteau; Aimee Dollard, daughter of Paul and Joan Dollard; Rebecca England, daughter of Richard and Helena England; Lauren Forbes, daughter of Linda Forbes; Amanda and Erika Gulezian, daughters of Glen and Janice Gulezian; Ann Hassan, daughter of Ossama and Sarah Hassan; Laura and Emily Kohl, daughters of the Rev. Dennis and Karin Kohl; Micheline Mahon, daughter of Edith Mahon and Carlos Garcia; Andra and David McCallum, children of Thomas and Mary Gallagher; Yvonne Nicoletti, daughter of Dr. Douglas and Rochelle Nicoletti;

Christmas Concert At Brooks

Christmas music from the 17th and 20th century will be performed in the rustic setting of the Ashburn Chapel on the campus of Brooks School on Sunday, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m.

School music director Kristin Sprague has chosen two contrasting works for a concert performed by the Brooks School Madrigal Singers, a nine-voice girls' chorus that specializes in classical and sacred treble choral works.

The singers will perform Johann Vierdanck's "Lo, I Bring Tidings" from Part One of his Sacred Concerti, published in 1641, and portions of Benjamin Britten's popular holiday work, "The Ceremony of Carols," of which they will sing "The Procession," "Wolcum Yole," "That Yonge Child," "Balulalow" and "This Little Babe."

The choir will be accompanied by harpist Ruth Emanuel, continuo player Karin Kohl, violinist Alexandra Aldrich and recorder Earl Miller.

Members of the Madrigal Singers are Caroline Glesmann, Kathy Palmer, Katy Morgan, Shea Castleman, Francoise Gavigon, Leah McLaughlin, Portia Cirome, Ariane de Braux and Annlee Grimstad.

The concert is free. The chapel is located in the center of the campus on Route 133 between North Andover and Boxford.

Holiday Concert Saturday

The Lawrence Choral Arts society will present its annual Holiday Concert at St. Anne's Church in Lawrence on Saturday, Dec. 12, at 7 p.m. This performance will also be a celebration of the tenth anniversary season of the choral society.

Under the direction of John Cice, the concert will include seasonal choral and orchestral works from the traditional to the contemporary. Accompanied with a professional orchestra, the choral society will perform Ottorino Respighi's "Laud to the Nativity," Robert Russell Bennett's "Carol Cantata II," and two carols composed by John Rutter. A concert choir will perform a medley of original carols by Alfred Burt and another Rutter composition. Fanfares performed by the Gainsborough Brass Quartet and an orchestral medley of favorite seasonal compositions will complete this holiday program.

Final Performances Of 'Annie'

The Andover Theatre Company's last performances of the popular musical "Annie" will be presented this weekend, Dec. 11 and 12, at 8 p.m. at Memorial Hall Auditorium, Doherty Junior High School, Bartlet Street, Andover.

The cast is comprised of actors, actresses and musicians from local communities, including Andover, North Andover, Lawrence, Tewksbury, Chelmsford, Billerica, Haverhill, North Reading and Lowell.

"Annie" tells the story of an optimistic orphan in search of her parents who is befriended by billionaire Oliver Warbucks and a stray dog named Sandy. After a series of strange and funny events involving antagonists Miss Hannigan, the orphanage director, and her dishonest brother, "Rooster," plus an unexpected meeting with President Franklin Roosevelt, Annie finally discovers the true fate of her parents while finding happiness and love in unexpected places. A cast of lovable orphans provides a background of music and entertainment.

Tickets can be obtained from The Butlers Pantry on Barnard Street, the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A., the Department of Community Services office, and from The Selfcare Center, Route 38, Tewksbury.

Ann Jeffers-Brown, soprano, Gale Fuller, mezzo-soprano, and Mark Kagan, tenor, are soloists for "Laud to the Nativity."

Jeffers-Brown has appeared with the Lawrence Choral Arts Society and performed as a soloist with the Masterworks Chorale, Cecilia Society, Banchetto Musicale, Pro Arte Chamber Orchestra and other Boston-area organizations. She has recently concentrated on song recitals which include works by Hindemith and programs of American song.

Fuller has performed with the Lawrence

Choral Arts Society and is a soloist with many Boston area organizations, including Boston Lyric Opera, Concert Opera, Longwood Opera and Merrimack Opera. She recently received the Liederkrantz award and will portray leading roles in "Carmen," "Barber of Seville," "Maria Stuarda" and "La Clemenca di Tito" this season.

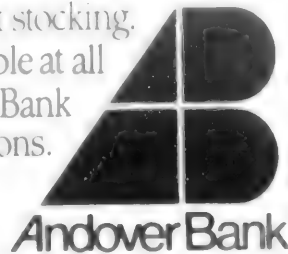

Kagan has performed with numerous groups in New England, including the Boston Classical Orchestra, Boston Ballet, Back Bay Chorale, Boston Cecilia and Cantata singers.

McGowan Galleries Open In Lowell

The public is invited to the newly-opened James V. McGowan Galleries in Lowell from noon to 5 p.m., Tuesdays through Sundays and by appointment.

The McGowan facility is located in the historic Boott Mill complex, which will eventually house more studios and a museum. In addition to McGowan's studio, there are two galleries: Gallery East will house a collection of McGowan's recent oil paintings, and Gallery West will be showing the ink drawings of Blandford artist Gerald L. Wise.

McGowan has taken a giant step from a career devoted solely to painting to establish a multi-faceted gallery, which will show not only his own work, but the work of some of the Northeast's finest artists. The James V. McGowan Galleries offer something unique to the city of Lowell and its environs. It will share space in the mill complex with a museum and a park, projected for completion next year.

McGowan was born in 1933 in Cambridge and is well-known as a New England artist specializing in city landscapes. He has received many awards over the years. He was chosen to exhibit in the Copley Society Show, and, most recently, his paintings have been selected to be the opening exhibit in the National Park Museum Gallery at the Boott Mill complex when it opens. McGowan's paintings and reproductions are in private and corporation collections throughout the United States and many other countries. Sen. Paul Tsongas has collected some of McGowan's work.

Wise, 46, was born in Pittsburgh, Penn. and received his master's degree of fine arts in drawing and printmaking at Northern Illinois University.

The shows of the work of Wise and McGowan will be running for a month. The Galleries are located at the foot of John Street in Lowell. Call 454-2412 for more information.

Christmas Program At Organ Hall

Just before Christmas last year, the trustees of the Methuen Memorial Music Hall, Broadway (Route 28) in Methuen, presented a program of holiday music, featuring organist Earl L. Miller, soprano soloist Terry Morgan and the Children of the Parish Choir of Christ Church-Andover called "Deck the Hall with the Sounds of Christmas." A capacity audience in Serlo Hall enjoyed and took part in traditional holiday music.

The second "Deck the Hall with the Sounds of Christmas" will take place this year on Saturday, Dec. 19, at 3:30 p.m. Miller, Morgan and the children will be there to offer more musical entertainment for the holiday season.

The Methuen Memorial Music Hall, which contains the world famous Walcker-Aeolian Skinner pipe organ, is in the process of raising funds for the restoration of the building and organ. A nominal admission charge is requested at the door.

Miller has chosen a variety of organ music, including "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" and selections from the "Nutcracker Suite." He will play some French 18th-century noels and German works based on traditional Christmas songs. Miller will also create some free improvisations based on well-known Christmas carols, showing off the variety of tone from the hall's pipe organ.

Morgan will sing "Oh Holy Night," "The Virgin's Slumber Song" and "Jesu Bambino" as well as some less familiar works by American and British composers.

Lead Paint & Children

The long-term effects of lead paint poisoning in children can be severe and irreversible. Recent studies indicate that lead poisoned children score significantly lower on intelligence tests and have a higher failure rate in school. It is illegal for a landlord to fail to remove lead paint from an apartment in which a child under six lives. It is also illegal for a landlord to refuse to rent an apartment because it has lead paint, or to attempt to evict a tenant for enforcing his/her rights under the lead paint laws.

Dangers

Holiday shopping and heavy seasonal traffic is a dangerous combination, warns AAA.

Rushed and distracted shoppers in busy downtowns and at shopping centers create traffic hazards that add to the higher accident rate during December.

Here are some tips for holiday shoppers:

Avoid window shopping when behind the wheel of a car.

Don't pile packages so high in the back that the rear window is blocked.

Remain alert for traffic lights. Don't mistake brightly colored Christmas lights for traffic lights.

Girl Scouts Plant Bulbs

Hundreds of Girl Scouts from the North Shore and Merrimack Valley area have been planting tulip bulbs at their weekly meeting places, schools and around city hall because of a donation of tulip bulbs from the Essex Conservation District.

The Essex Conservation District donated more than 8,000 tulip bulbs to Spar and Spindle Girl Scout Council. District administrator Kathleen Boudreau felt this would be an ideal opportunity to improve the community while teaching the girls about conservation and helping them complete their community service projects.

Troops have been working on 75 hours of community service as a means of celebrating the Girl Scouts 75th anniversary, which was March 12. For further information on girl scouting, contact the Girl Scout Council office in North Andover.

For further information on conservation programs and material, contact the conservation office in Danvers.

Regiment Participates In Parade

Have you ever wondered what it was like to be a soldier during the American Revolution? Members of the First New Hampshire Regiment have a first-hand look by recreating an actual unit which served in the war. The officers, soldiers, musicians and campfollowers volunteer their time to portray the past as closely as possible, for example, in Andover's Christmas parade.

Beyond dressing in authentic period uniforms and firing genuine black powder muskets, the First New Hampshire often "battles" with reenactors portraying King George III's British troops around New England and the other original colonies.

The First New Hampshire and other regiments traveled to England this year to perform for British audiences. They have been invited to the Rochambeau Celebration in July 1988 in France. The First New Hampshire Regiment is accepting new members; no previous experience is necessary.

OBITUARIES

THE TOWNSMAN, DECEMBER 10, 1987

Paul Factor

Paul Factor, whose positive attitude set an example for others while he lived with terminal illness for the past 10 years, died yesterday at Bon Secours Hospital.

Mr. Factor, 61, 22 Alden Road, was a self-employed sales and marketing shoe distributor before his retirement.

Initially, he worked as a salesman for a domestic shoe factory. Then, when the domestic shoe industry declined, he became involved in the import shoe industry, in charge of designing and marketing for different companies, said Sally Factor, his wife of 27 years. He spent a lot of time overseas—in Spain and Brazil.

Later when he could not work full-time, he worked on his own, designing shoes.

"My husband used oxygen for five years and he had his little oxygen tank," Mrs. Factor said. "He just went about his business and carried his tank wherever we went."

"He was the most positive, forward-looking person," she said.

"During his illness, he never complained," said Elaine Goodman, a longtime friend. "He was very concerned about his family and he did everything he could to keep his family going."

Mrs. Goodman said her husband, Leonard, was the person who introduced Mr. Factor to his future bride.

"My husband was in the shoe business, too, and Sally was working for her father, who had a shoe factory," Mrs. Goodman said.

One day Paul and Leonard were on Lincoln Street in Boston where the shoe factories were and Leonard pointed across the street and told his friend he was going to introduce him to Sally.

"Paul just looked at her and said, 'That's the girl I'm going to marry.' And six months later he did," Mrs. Goodman said.

"We've been the closest of friends. We're like family."

A graduate of Boston Latin School, Mr. Factor earned a bachelor of arts degree from Boston University.

He was an Army veteran of World War II.

He was a member of the Two Ten Organization, which helps people connected with the shoe industry, by offering scholarships, for example. He was also a member of the Germania Lodge of Masons in Boston.

Mr. Factor was an avid sports fan and a reader, his wife said.

"He was very involved in political things. He read every Newsweek, Time and that type of thing."

Mr. Factor belonged to Temple Emanuel of Andover since his family moved from Boston to Andover 14 years ago.

"He certainly was a very unique individual in that he had such a positive outlook on life. He would always see the positive and emphasize it," said Rabbi Harry A. Roth. "He was a warm individual and well-liked."

Mr. Factor is survived by his wife, Sally (Dine) Factor; a daughter, Gwen Factor; a son, David; his mother, Fannie Factor; a sister, Vivian Rasnick; brothers, Theodore and Charles.

Funeral services were held yesterday at Temple Emanuel. Burial was in Children of Israel Cemetery, Haverhill.

Memorial observance will be through Sunday evening at his home.

Memorial contributions may be made to Temple Emanuel, 7 Haggetts Pond Road, Andover, Mass.

Arrangements are by the Schlossberg, Goldman and Fisher Funeral Chapel of Malden.

John J. Sullivan

John J. Sullivan, 57, 28 Sagamore Drive, died suddenly at Lawrence General Hospital Thursday, Dec. 3, 1987.

Born and brought up in Melrose, Mr. Sullivan lived there for 25 years. He graduated from Melrose High School in 1947 and from Northeastern University with a bachelor of science degree in business.

He owned and operated Sullivan Insurance for 20 years and for the past 10 years was owner and president of New England Concrete Corp. in Melrose.

Mr. Sullivan lived in Andover for the past 32 years. He was formerly of Wildwood Road.

He was an Army veteran of the Korean War. Mr. Sullivan was a member of the Lanam Club and the Indian Ridge Country Club in Andover and the Algonquin Club in Boston.

He is survived by his wife, Frances D. (Ferrick); two sisters, Mary LeDoux and Kathleen Christopher, both of Melrose; and a brother, Thomas F., also of Melrose. Mr. Sullivan also leaves several nephews and nieces.

A funeral mass was held Monday, Dec. 7, at St. Mary's Church in Melrose, followed by burial at Woodlawn Cemetery in Everett.

Andover, James Morrissey of Lososos, Calif., William Morrissey of Goffstown, N.H., and Richard Morrissey of Methuen; one sister, Mary Bell of Dracut; and two grandchildren.

Planners Review Potentially Controversial Zoning Changes

By Frank Messina

Working late into the night, the Andover Planning Board began reviewing a series of potentially controversial zoning changes to be presented at the town meeting in April.

It was 11:30 p.m. by the time a group of tired, yawning planners knocked off Tuesday night, but board members were satisfied they had made some headway into a stack of proposals made by town planners Laura Hill and Nancy Jeton.

The preliminaries dispensed with, the board will meet Dec. 22 to engage in some hard discussion over exactly what changes will be offered to the public.

The proposals range from the heavily controversial—such as affordable housing—to issues that affect only specific neighborhoods.

Although the language of the proposals prepared by town staff were generally hard-line, so they could be refined at the town meeting, Hill told the board, the planners tread lightly on the affordable housing issue.

Expressing a commitment to bring less expensive housing into Andover, "so our children and older children can have someplace to live here," said one board member, the board made it clear they knew they are attempting to walk a tightrope.

On one side, are members of the community who "are opposed to any density over one" unit per lot, said board member Susan Stott. "We're damned if we do and damned if we don't," she said.

But to attract developers who will work with a lower profit margin, the board must propose a density level that makes economic sense to builders.

Chairman Michael Houghton echoed a board consensus, directing Hill to come up with figures to support the concept of affordable housing, while at the same time showing sensitivity to citizens who oppose overdevelopment.

From their long list of tentative zoning amendments, the board spent the most time discussing fencing on contractor's yards and setting limits on home businesses.

Presenting an extensive list of restrictions for people working out of their homes, Hill repeatedly reminded the board that the language is purposely strong, but "we can then get relief as we go through the public phase (town meeting)."

The restrictions included:

—No exterior indication of use, such as storage of materials, equipment or signs outside the home.

—No more than one non-resident co-worker or employee.

—All products sold must be produced or assembled on the premises.

—Instruction limited to three students at a time.

—Use must be clearly incidental and secondary to use of premises as

Library Renovations Being Well Received By Public

By Frank Messina

A couple of days after the official reopening of the Andover library recently, a middle-aged patron stepped through the main entrance, stopped dead in his tracks and slowly swiveled through a near 360 degree turn.

"Holee-molee!" he breathed softly to himself, "would you look at this."

About 5,000 curious Andover citizens did just that the first week, crowding the building at Elm Square to get a glimpse at the long-awaited library renovations.

It was just about five years ago that the original renovation plans were drawn up. For the past 2 1/2 years, construction crews encountered what seemed to library administrators like an endless stream of hassles, glitches and delays.

Head Librarian Nancy Jacobsen said her staff has patiently worked through the confusion, but until last week's unveiling of the renovation's first phase, the big question remained: would the patrons think it was all worth it?

Judging from the reactions of a variety of library visitors, the answer is an resounding "Holee-molee!—Yes!"

Glancing at the combination of glowing blonde wood grains and soft pastels decorating the floors and walls, "It looks great," Inga Kacher said with enthusiasm. The 21-year-old University of Lowell student was found relaxing by herself in a chair, a simple pleasure, but one she said has been impossible to enjoy in the past.

"Before, the library was so small, everybody was so packed in that I used to just get my books and leave," she said, "I never just sat down to read here. Now it's nice and airy, very open."

Large picture windows and a huge skylight running through the center

Maintaining The Tone

Continuing in the holiday spirit initiated here a couple of weeks ago, let's comment today on the building of the Christmas seasonal spirit.

Now, we are well aware that are such things as collaborative schools, moral vacuums, low-cost housing, etc., but for this season of the year, let's put them on the back burner and reflect rather on the more pleasant aspects of this season of the year.

As each passes, additional decorations brighten Andover's neighborhoods as residents join in the festive spirit of the season. It would be difficult to single out any particular area of the community, but a ride around town undoubtedly would indicate that Andover is getting into the Christmas mood.

Add to that the various programs either in rehearsal or already in performance by various school and church groups.

In that regard the Doherty Junior High School is community oriented in their Christmas program. Next Thursday night, the faculty and youngsters have invited the town to join them for an old-fashioned caroling in The Park. They will supply hot chocolate and have invited Santa Claus to visit.

Throughout the town over the next week or so, there will be various musical programs in the schools.

Christmas fairs were the order of the day last weekend.

And, the churches in town are taking on the Christmas appearance with the placing of decorations and nativity scenes along with the lighting of advent wreaths.

Indeed, the holiday spirit prevails.

And, in that spirit, comes the time of year when we are at our charitable best. When we take a moment to think of others less fortunate and be sure that they, too, have a happy holiday season.

In that regard, we might suggest consideration of the Eagle-Tribune Santa Claus Fund which has a long established record of caring for those in the Greater Lawrence community at this particular season of the year.

There are innumerable organizations dedicated to insuring happy holidays for all, but the Eagle-Tribune Santa has been dedicated over a long period of time and is, indeed, worthy of consideration.

Finally, let's not forget the postal workers whose work load has increased substantially at this time of year.

These men and women continue to handle their difficult task with the same pleasant attitude that prevails among the Andover postal workers throughout the year.

Undoubtedly between now and the holidays there will be some inclement weather, but, true to their tradition, they will continue to serve the public with their same gracious aplomb.

Well aware that there are constant complaints about postal service in many communities, let's be mindful that Andover postal workers, like others, can't deliver or provide service with what they don't have.

Once provided with letters, greetings or packages, local postal workers are attentive to their duties and well serve the Andover public.

DOWN THE YEARS

75 Years Ago — December 1912

Mad dog scares have been prevalent in several parts of the town during the past few days and in some cases the dogs which have caused the disturbance have been removed by the police.

Announcement is made that a new moving picture show is to be opened in Andover. The old Boston and Maine depot on Essex street on what was known as the Barnett estate and which was recently sold by the Barnett heirs will be used as the theatre.

Alexander J. Dudley has resigned as business manager of the Hotel Needham, Lawrence, and accepted a position with the West Philadelphia Wholesale Drug Company.

Frank L. Cole, Superintendent of the Public Works, has been confined to his home for a few days with an attack of the grip.

50 Years Ago — December 1937

The State Department of Public

Utilities decided this week to order the railroad to install standard double flash lights, with bells, at the Lowell junction railroad crossing where an Andover man met his death three weeks ago.

Chief of Police George A. Dane early in the week issued an appeal to parents to keep their children off the ice until it was absolutely safe. Sunday afternoon a youngster had to be pulled out of Hussey's pond in Shawsheen village.

A study of the possibility of the school department's generating its own electricity, made by the Lawrence Gas and Electric company, shows that on an investment of $22,500, the town would be losing in annual operating costs along around $554.

Seventeen liquor licenses were approved for renewal at the meeting of the selectmen on Monday evening. Four more will be taken up next Monday.

25 Years Ago — December 1962

Malicious breakage of Christmas decorations along Main St. and the apparent inability of anyone to cope with the situation were the twin subjects of complaint to the TOWNSMAN this week.

The "functional design of office space" is now being undertaken by architects designing the new town hall. Town Manager Thomas Duff said this means placing desks, chairs and filing cabinets inside the allotted office spaces, department by department.

The town could lose some or all state and federal assistance in the welfare department, it was learned exclusively this week. The TOWNSMAN learned that the published floor plans for the welfare office do not meet state and federal specifications.

The School Committee has the authority to select sites for schools, according to town meeting dictates.

And the Selectmen, apparently agreeing, have asked the Committee to prepare a list of specific sites it wishes to acquire.

10 Years Ago — December 1977

Selectman Richard J. Bowen has been appointed city manager in Fairmont, West Virginia, and his seat on the board will be vacated in time to be filled by the voters at the annual town election in March.

Groundwork for a building committee that would see the town through renovation of East Jr. High or new construction elsewhere, was laid by the school committee Tuesday night.

The man who has been in charge of checking election procedures at town meeting for the past 40 years has decided to try to move to the stage. James D. Doherty, 9 Juniper Road, has announced that he will be a candidate for moderator at the annual town election in March.

Support For Band

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

In view of the extreme contrast between the support given their football team by the people of North Andover with that given the Andover team, I, as head football coach, was disappointed and said so, which is my right. Those who have criticized me for so doing have the same right. The above is not the issue, but there are certain aspects of this matter which deserve clarification.

First of all, varsity football coaches are hit for comments by the local press immediately after each football game. The press is just doing its job and has deadlines to meet and no one questions this process. It is very difficult for the coach, however, as the emotional impact of the game is still present and there is no time to think out answers to the questions that are thrown out. Further, the coach has absolutely no control over what things said are used by the reporter and what is left out. Ninety-five percent of what I say never gets printed and the other 5 percent often gets blown out of proportion. Frequently, the story is accurate as far as it goes, but may well be a distortion of the true feelings of the coach. We never see beforehand what is or is not in the story, nor do we have any input into the headline that may be utilized. The latter often becomes the cause of most of the unhappiness that may develop over such stories and certainly was a factor in the case in question.

What happened in the North Andover game story was that I was interviewed for almost an hour by the reporter and the band was never mentioned. At the end of the interview he asked me to estimate the size of the North Andover crowd during the second half, which I did at about two or three thousand. He then asked me to estimate the size of the Andover crowd at the same point, and I replied, "There was virtually nobody there, even the band had left." That was the complete and sum total of any reference I made to the band in the entire interview, but the headline and the story in the Tribune came out quite differently. The reporter and the newspaper have the right to present the story as they see fit, but it should be recognized that I had no say or control over it.

My second concern in this matter is the question of the band's role. We are all part of the same act, the band, the football team, the cheerleaders and the Indian girls. It is not a question of support, we are all partners in the same presentation and all represent the same school. The school bands playing at the football games are an American tradition and a very strong one among the public schools in the Merrimack Valley League. There is no question it was a bitterly cold day and the cheerleaders, Indians and substitutes on the football team were freezing, just like everybody else.

The final point I would like to make involves my support of activities at Andover High School. My wife and I would go to everything and we particularly loved to watch the marching bands. We attended numerous band competitions and always felt a sense of pride in our band, and I still do. If I tend to be unhappy when the band comes to a game late or leaves early, it is because I feel the band is such an important part of our program and adds so much to our games.

Any member of the football team will attest that I am always urging them to support other teams and all school activities, including the band. In the last two-three years I have not been able to get to school activities the way I would like and have in the past, but anyone who knows my personal situation knows why. It is very unfair for anyone to criticize me on this score.

The sad fact is that our football team was beaten fair and square by North Andover and our community was shown up by theirs. Hopefully, this will bring us all closer together and generate more, rather than less, school and community spirit. For my part, I guarantee the band my full and complete support.

Heartened

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Thank you, Rick Elias and Julia Moran Morton. I feel heartened by your letters endorsing the collaborative school project and cautioning this community against a provincial attitude that is both harmful to those who are economically and racially less well situated and stupefying to our children.

We are now living in a period when our community is increasingly the larger world. I believe that in the 21st century only those individuals who exhibit a global, rather than parochial, world view will function as the most productive members of society.

As an educator and parent, I, too, have questions about curriculum, staffing and the logistics of meeting the needs of a highly diverse student population in the collaborative school, but I am angered at being robbed of the opportunity to explore and debate those issues of programming and prematurely forced into a debate about the very existence of the school.

Open Letter

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Apathetic I'm not

Saddened I am

I care and I care very much.

You indict me

You're responsible too

Education has long lost its touch.

Many students lose interest

In school early on

They tune out through puberty and such.

The system ain't perfect

Needs an in-depth review

By another who cares very much.

I challenge you, sir,

To visit the schools

You constantly praise so much.

Check on curriculum

Does it challenge the brain

Or instill boredom and such.

I'm tired of statistics

Let's get down to basics

Stop using me as a crutch.

'Tis The Season

It's Christmas time, and local churches started celebrating last weekend with a variety of fairs, music and pageants. People big and small turned out for the festivities.

Christ Church held its Parish Yuletide Fair Saturday. Among the crafts and decorations was this Lionel train set. At the controls is Anthony Vancini, 6, son of Arthur and Marcia Vancini of 7 S. Tanglewood Way.

Christine Forsythe sells her knitted hats and mittens at the Christ Church fair. Here, John Whitham of 49 Porter Road decides on a purchase.

Respect Life Committee Hosts Priest

The Respect Life Committee of St. Augustine's parish in Andover hosted a talk by the Rev. William Carroll of St. Patrick's parish in South Lawrence Nov. 17. Carroll's talk centered on the need to return to a biblically-based form of worship: prayer, combined with fasting, abstinence and other forms of self sacrifice that has fallen out of favor in recent years, but was particularly urged by Our Lady at Lourdes and Fatima. He said this form of supplication is particularly important to all Christians during this Marian Year.

Fr. Carroll stressed the need for Christians to stand and be counted for their faith in prayer and fasting as well as words and deeds. He cited a case pending before the U.S. Supreme Court that seeks to remove the tax-exempt status of the Catholic Church as an example of the kind of attacks the church is under because of its respect for human life from the moment of conception.

Fr. Carroll also talked on the slow but perceptible degradation of the morals and ethics on weekly TV shows as another sign of national deterioration, the recent decision by the FCC to allow "objectionable" programming on the air between midnight and 6 a.m. highlights the downward moral slide, he said.

Father Carroll ended his talk by saying that he was optimistic about the future, especially because youth are beginning to heed the call to penance, self sacrifice and prayer for peace and innocent life.

He sees the new breed of heroes as people on the local scene who started unique and enduring programs on their own, with little money, outside backing or technical expertise.

Seminar On Holiday Depression

The holidays are a time for happiness, but for many they signal a time when things are not as they should be. Every holiday season, many who should be glad are sad and that sadness is deepened by the sight of joy around them.

Holiday depression is normal for those suffering loss and disappointment. For many years Dr. Leon Somers has conducted seminars for those concerned about themselves and loved ones who are dealing with such disappointment.

This year the seminar will be held on Wednesday, December 16, at 7:30 p.m. The seminar is free of charge and is open to the public. It will be held at The Somers Trust Psychological Associates, 789 Turnpike Street (Rte. 114, The Willows Professional Park), North Andover, MA. Seating is limited, so please call (617) 688-8004 to make a reservation.

Intermediate Girls Hoop Begins

Christ Church, 30-16

St. Robert's A, Christ Church and St. Robert's B were victorious as the Intermediate Girls' Division of the Andover Church Basketball League launched its season last week at the West Elementary gym.

St. Robert's A toppled St. Augustine's A 24-12, defending champs Christ Church topped Ballardval United 30-16 and St. Robert's B overpowered St. Augustine's B 34-8.

St. Robert's A, 24-12

Grace Perry had 14 points, including ten in the pivotal third period, to lead St. Robert's A victory over St. Augustine's A.

SRA held slim advantages of 6-2 after one quarter and 10-6 at halftime, but put the game away, thanks to Perry, with a 10-0 run in the third quarter.

Amy Redgate finished with 6 points, while Patricia McNeice had 4. Kelly Young and Beth Daly also played well.

Amy Cassidy had 6 points for SAA, Katie Walsh had 4 and Marsha Gemmell 2. Tara Griffin and Denise Carriere were defensive stalwarts.

B's Blank

North Reading

Andover's PeeWee B team gave coach Mike Lombard and their fans an early Christmas present with a well-played 2-0 victory over North Reading last Saturday. Andover got the only goal they needed at 9:15 of the first period. A Ryan Doyle pass sent Mike Lombard into the North Reading zone. As the North Reading defense double teamed him along the boards inside the blue line, he was able to pass to Jason Loomer who beat the goalie. A scoreless second period ended with goalie Phil Smith coming out of the net to stop a breakaway at the buzzer. The Andover defense, including Doug Batchelder, Dan Kenny and John Brodbine, and the backchecking of Brendan Sheehy, Sean Donohue, Ritchie Enos and Mark Pirri kept the North Reading offense off balance throughout the second and third period.

Darrin Cianci added an insurance goal at 2:55 as Lombard and Doyle again combined for their second assists of the day. Smith was called upon again to make a testing save at the buzzer to preserve his shutout.

Lindsey Sweeney had 16 points to pace Christ Church to a win over Ballardvale United.

CC led 6-2, 14-10 and 24-10 at the first three checkpoints.

Nicole Angelos had 6 points, Amy Kenney 4, Ari Boutin and Kristin Cook 2 each.

Rachel Roberts paced the BU attack with 8 points, Wendy Darling added 4 and Sheri Culber and Erinne Sullivan had single fieldgoals.

St. Robert's B, 34-8

A veteran St. Robert's B squad placed six players in the scoring column in their victory over an inexperienced St. Augustine's B team.

Kristen Simko had 10 points, Karen Babine, Stephanie Kupa and Amy O' Sullivan 6 points apiece, Krissy Smith 4 and Rene Rikeman 2.

Mellisa Shroeder had 4 points for SAB, Jinny Blaise and Jen Aylward 2 each. Carolyne Tully and Debbie Lane also played well.

Intermediate Hoop Season Opens

Ballardvale United B nipped St. Augustine's C 27-26, St. Augustine's B edged St. Augustine's A 24-21, Ballardvale United A overpowered Temple Emanuel 48-8, St. Robert's B slipped past South Church A 26-24 and St. Augustine's D trimmed St. Robert's A 41-32 as the Intermediate Division of the Andover Church Basketball League opened its season last week at the West Junior High School gym.

Ballardvale United B, 27-26

Ballardvale United B staved off a fourth-quarter rally by St. Augustine's C to eke out a one-point victory.

Trailing 12-9 at halftime, BU went on a 12-4 run in the third period, spurred by Mike Famiglietti's eight points, to ake a 21-16 lead after three.

The outcome was in doubt until the final buzzer as SAC outscored the winners 10-6 in the fourth stanza.

Famiglietti finished with 14 points, Keith Bilger added 6, Mike D'Agostino 5 and Nate Roberts 2. Greg Litchfield and Mike Trombly also played well.

Chris Corcoran and Matt Wolcott had 6 points apiece for St. Augustine's, Brian Croteau, Pat Walsh and Brian Hussey had 4 points each. Sean Croteau notched a fourth-quarter fieldgoal. Justin Connors and Chris Hoffman were defensive stalwarts.

St. Augustine's B, 24-21

St. Augustine's B jumped to a 10-5 first-quarter lead, increased it to 16-7 at halftime and 22-11 after three. St. Augustine's A mounted a furious 10-2 countercharge in the fourth period.

John Bowman paced the SAB attack with 8 points, Tom Daily had 6, Chad Bowman 4, Tim Connors, C.J. Dadd and Dave Kelmer had solo buckets.

David Charland led the balanced offense of SAA with 6 points, Todd Cadagan had 5, Joe Shea 4, Sean Harris 4 and Matt Walsh 2.

Ballardvale United A, 48-8

A tall, experienced Ballardvale United A team had too much firepower for a young Temple Emanuel squad.

BU erupted for a 16-4 first-quarter lead. Kevin Lane was the top marksman with 14 points, Bruce Ladd and Scott Henry had 8 each, Colin Arseneault 7, Matt Landry 4, Reiji Hayes 3, Matt Morello and Danny Atkins 2 each.

Andrew Male led TE with 6 points while Jon Weiner added a fieldgoal. Jonathan Tunick, Josh Goodman and Jonathan Schweig also turned in strong efforts.

St. Robert's B, 26-24

James Perry hooked in a shot from the right corner with 14 seconds remaining to break a 24-24 tie and lift St. Robert's B to an exciting win over a gallant South A team.

SRB led 9-6, 11-7 and 21-14 at the first three checkpoints.

Perry finished game-high with 18 points, Michael O'Sullivan chipped in 6, Eddie Seero 2. Corey King and Ben Tilghman also played well.

Chris Ricciardiello had 10 points for south, Tommy Clarke had 8 and Tommy Tanin had 6, all in the fourth quarter. Spencer Wendt and Chris Lavin also played well.

St. Augustine's D, 41-32

Peter Cookson scored an early division-high 27 points as St. Augustine's D decisioned St. Robert's A in an old-fashion shootout.

SAD led 6-3 after one period and 20-11 at intermission.

Frank Paone's seven points spearheaded an SRA 15-6 surge in the third quarter that tied the score at 26-26.

Gold Shuts Out Methuen

Andover scored two of its goals against Methuen in the first period. Kenny Leng started the scoring on an assist from Liguori. Within two minutes, Andover got its second score on a breakaway goal by John Melillo with assists going to Smith and Constantine.

Kevin Smith scored on a slapshot from the blue line on a nice pass from Jay Coburn who picked up the assist. Jonathan Shine and Jim Demers, aside from playing an excellent defensive game, had many good sapshots from the blue line turned away by the Methuen goalie. Melillo scored the second goal of the second period again assisted by Smith. Shine also picked up an assist on the play.

Andover scored four goals in the third period. Ken Leng put in a beautiful, unassisted goal to start the shooting barrage. Colon Nix, Will Dunning and Bob Dalton worked hard at forechecking as Methuen couldn't mount an offense.

Peter Vaill scored the second goal with an assist from Leng. Chris Pothier scored the last two goals of the period. One was unassisted and the other with an assist from Melillo. Strong goaltending by Dan Waitkivitch, superb defensive play and a solid offense accounted for the 8-0 win.

Andover lost the other game of the weekend against a Gate City team 3-1. Andover's lone goal came in the third period from Leng with assists going to Liguori and Vaill. The defense and goaltending was outstanding, but the offense couldn't take advantage of a pair of five-on-three power plays.

Drunk Driving Law Penalties Tough

If you're arrested for drunk driving in Massachusetts, chances are ten to one you'll be convicted.

According to the Governor's Highway Safety Bureau, 34,200 of the 38,000 people arrested for drunk driving last year were convicted.

Penalties for those convicted for the first time are stiff, as explained in a new pamphlet prepared in a joint effort by the Governor's Highway Safety Bureau and AAA: fine up to $1,000, sentence up to two years in jail and license revoked for one year.

Or, the offender may be placed on probation and be required to attend the first offender drunk driving program for nearly six months of intensive counseling. The offender also pays a $650 fee and has his license suspended for an additional 45 to 90 days.

In addition, a first offender can expect to pay at least $3,655 for such charges as car towing and storage, jail magistrate's fee, defense attorney, fine insurance assessment and loss of safe driver credits for three years.

Penalties for repeat offenders are very severe: mandatory jail sentence, fine up to $1,000 and loss of license up to ten years.

The pamphlet explains in non-legal terms what the breath test is, the automatic suspension of license for refusal to take the breath test and itemizes how much it will cost if convicted of drunk driving.

Copies are available from the Governor's Highway Safety Bureau and AAA offices.

Road Salt Application Reduced

Application of road salt to a section of Route 28 will be reduced again this winter under a policy announced by Massachusetts Department of Public Works Commissioner Robert T. Tierney.

Beginning at South Street in Stoneham and continuing to the North Reading-Andover town line (excluding portions not under state jurisdiction), Route 28 will be treated with a special mixture of Premix and sand in a one-to-one ratio by volume. Premix is comprised of four parts road salt and one part calcium chloride. Every application of this mixture will reduce the amount of road salt normally applied by 60 percent.

"We're continuing an aggressive policy of road salt reductions because of our concern about application of chemicals on the roadway and the effects those materials might have on water supplies," Tierney said. "In certain storm situations, motorists may not encounter bare pavement on these roadways and should reduce their speeds to adjust to roadway conditions they may encounter."

Don't Be A 'Pour' Host

Host the perfect holiday party this year and toast a truly happy, healthy and safe new year. "Don't be a 'pour' host," says David J. Christensen, executive vice president of the AAA Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley.

"Parties around this time of year can be fun for all. You can have a wonderful time without the zap afterwards," he said. "All it takes is a little thought and preplanning."

The auto club offers the following suggestions:

Make non-alcoholic beverages available and be certain everyone knows where they are.

Help guests pace their drinks. The liver can only metabolize one drink per hour. Don't rush to fill glasses.

Serve tempting foods throughout the evening, but avoid salty or highly seasoned foods and snacks as these make guests thirsty.

Don't be a 'pour' host and push drinks. Let guests mix their own drinks.

Beer, wine and hard liquor all "pack the same punch" per drink. A 12-oz. can of beer, a 5-oz. glass of wine and a typical 1½-oz. serving of hard liquor (straight or in a mixed drink) all have the same amount of alcohol and intoxicating potential. Beer and wine merely have more water added to the alcohol in each serving. Mix "spiked" punches with a non-carbonated base. Alcohol is absorbed by the body much faster when combined with a carbonated mixer. Fruit juice or tea are preferable bases for alcoholic punches or mixed drinks.

Focus attention on food. Food slows the rate the body absorbs alcohol. High protein foods such as cheese and meats are especially good because they stay in the stomach longer. A tray of crisp vegetables with a sour cream or cream cheese dip is also good.

Divert attention away from the bar. Keep guests circulating with games, conversation or dancing. Stop serving alcoholic beverages about an hour before the party is to end. Bring out a non-alcoholic hot or cold drink in addition to coffee or tea.

Encourage one person in each group to be a designated driver. Award a small gift to the individual or couple who decides not to drink and assure a safe ride home for other guests.

Use normal sized portions or less for drinks. A one-ounce jigger is considered "normal."

Convince guests who have had too much to drink to stay over or arrange transportation with a sober friend or call a taxi. Remember, only time can sober someone up.

Holiday time can be fun. There's no need for parties to end tragically. So, don't be a 'pour' host. Be "first a friend, then a host."

About half as much hot water is used in the average shower as in the average bath.

Unemployment Compensation

All unemployment compensation received from a federal or state program is subject to federal income tax, the Internal Revenue Service reminds taxpayers.

"Before 1987, all or part of your unemployment compensation might have been tax free. Under the Tax Reform Act of 1986, this benefit is no longer available," said Boston District Director Jerry Esposito.

Form 1040-ES is used for these payments. The final quarterly payment for 1987 is due January 15.

Hyperactive Children

Hyperactivity has been called the most common childhood behavior disorder. What is hyperactivity? When a child is constantly fidgety, aggressive, impulsive, reckless, unable to concentrate or listen or generally "won't keep still for two minutes," hyperactivity is often suggested.

Child psychiatrists urge parents not to assume hyperactivity simply because of a child's objectionable behavior. It is normal for any child to be fidgety and impulsive during transitions through normal developmental stages.

Childhood hyperactivity, learning disabilities and minimal brain dysfunction have been studied since the 1930s. Studies reveal that from 1 to 15 percent of children are hyperactive. This disorder occurs more frequently in children under seven years old and more often in boys. Some child psychiatrists recognize hyperactivity as "developmental lag," possibly caused by a biochemical deficiency. A number of children seem to grow out of the behavior, but many do not.

Parents whose children consistently seem to show signs of hyperactivity should see a physician or psychologist for a diagnostic evaluation. If the consultant determines the child has a learning disability or minimal brain dysfunction, a multifaceted treatment approach will probably be discussed, including medication, behavior modification and therapy.

Stimulants have been used since the syndrome was first described and are found to have a calming effect. They may produce side effects such as insomnia, irritability or poor appetite. More recently anit-depressants have been prescribed. Medications should be under the supervision of a physician or a child psychiatrist.

Generally, therapy emphasizes consistency, clear rules, positive reinforcement and social activities with one to two others at most.

Family training is encouraged to aid the family in learning to recognize when "time-out" is needed or when the child needs more help and attention. It is important to remember that although hyperactive children often have difficulty expressing their emotions, they are usually highly considered "bratty," therefore, treatment includes changes in behavior for the whole family.

AMERICAN EXPRESS

Outreach Group Meets Wednesday

The Massachusetts Congress of Lake and Pond Associations, Inc. (COLAP) will visit Andover as part of their 1988 out-reach program. The board of directors have been meeting monthly throughout the state to assess the needs of their membership and to assist Massachusetts lake and pond associations with their area problems.

Andover Environmental Affairs Coordinator Eileen M. Flaherty told Ruth White Kaminski, executive director of COLAP, that there are a number of issues in need of attention locally.

A number of lake and pond groups are requesting monies from the state to assist in cleaning up their valuable resources. One of the prerequisites of obtaining these funds is the availability of a public access point to the resource. Kaminski points out that this will be a well debated issue in Massachusetts and, possibly, in Andover on December 15 in the Bancroft School cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

Anyone interested in more information can contact COLAP directly or the Andover office of the environmental affairs coordinator. The meeting is open to the public.

House Cost

The median price of a single-family home in Massachusetts rose to $154,000 in the third quarter of 1987, up 6.2 percent from the previous quarter, according to data compiled by the Massachusetts Association of Realtors.

The western region of the state posted the greatest percentage gain with prices rising 7.9 percent to $107,900, up from $100,000 in the previous quarter. Cape Cod prices rose 7.1 percent to $149,900, up from $139,900.

Prices remained relatively stable in the eastern and central regions, rising 2.7 percent in the northeast ($164,250), 1.1 percent in the Boston region ($187,000), 7 percent in the central region ($129,750) and declining 1.3 percent in the southeast region ($137,750).

The median means half the homes sold cost more and half cost less. The data is based on information supplied by 20 realtor-affiliated Multiple Listing Services (MLS) in Massachusetts, a cooperative listing of homes available for sale through its members. Approximately one-third of all real estate transactions in Massachusetts go through realtor-affiliated MLS.

Commissions Study Of Small Power Producers

The Coalition for Reliable Energy announced that it has commissioned an in-depth study of the impact that cogeneration projects and small power plants are likely to have on New England's electric generating capacity in the future.

"The value of small power and cogeneration projects in New England must be measured by the yardsticks of reliability and the number of megawatts we can expect to add to the power grid," said Elizabeth Mudge, president of the coalition. According to Mudge, the study will be conducted by the University of Lowell Research Foundation.

"One of the first challenges will be to develop a workable definition of the sizes and types of projects that fall under the banner of cogeneration and small power stations," said the study's principal investigator Dr. Gilbert J. Brown, a professor at the University of Lowell and member of the coalition's board of advisors. "Once we've defined the arena, we'll consider such things as the environmental impact, the economics, the fuel requirements and the reliability of cogeneration and small power projects." Brown will be assisted by Charles Robinson, a University of Lowell energy engineering graduate student.

"There is no question that we need to develop every type of electric generating capacity that we can in order to avert shortages by the early 1990s," continued Mudge. "Our purpose in sponsoring the study is to try and determine answers to the questions of how much help we can expect from alternate sources."

"The study will be completed in early 1988 and will provide a comprehensive analysis that should be useful to energy producers, regulators and consumers. Prior to its publication, the final report will be reviewed by a peer committee representing developers, utilities, regulators and scientists," she said.

"Hopefully we will make it through this winter without power shortages and the results of the study will help us in planning for summer electrical demands that are sure to occur if our region continues its unprecedented growth," she said.

The Coalition for Reliable Energy is a grass-roots organization of more than 20,000 New Englanders who advocate the timely development of secure energy supplies to sustain the region's economic growth and job stability.

Renaissance Maiolica Exhibit To Open At Fine Arts Museum

The first major traveling exhibition of Italian Renaissance maiolica, the richly decorated ceramics produced in workshops from Venice to Naples in the 15th and 16th centuries, opened at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. "Italian Renaissance Maiolica from the William A. Clark Collection" features a selection of 70 examples of the brilliantly colored, tin-glazed earthenware from the permanent collection of the Corcoran Gallery in Washington, D.C. Bequeathed in 1926 by the late industrialist and U.S. Senator William A. Clark, the Corcoran's maiolica holdings are considered to be among the finest in the United States. The exhibition will be on view through February 7.

According to Anne L. Pouklet, curator of European decorative arts and sculpture at the Museum of Fine Arts, the technique of tin-glazed earthenware, originally developed in the Middle East by Islamic artisans seeking to imitate fine Chinese porcelain, was probably first used in Italy in the 11th and 12th centuries. Influenced by their Islamic and Spanish predecessors, Italian artisans began producing their own distinct versions of this type of pottery, eventually establishing ceramic workshops throughout the peninsula.

Maiolica and other decorative arts in Renaissance Italy were considered an essential part of the general ambiance of beauty and refinement sought by ecclesiastical patrons and aristocratic families like the Medici, the Orsini and the d'Este. No longer simply utilitarian, maiolica was produced as luxury wares for decoration and display and as gifts for special occasions. Other varieties of ornamental maiolica were produced in large quantities to furnish pharmacies of the time. Many of these finely painted and inscribed drug jars reveal the names of medicinal remedies and sweet confections that could be acquired from Renaissance apothecaries.

"Italian Renaissance Maiolica" features examples from most of Italy's maiolica-producing cities, emphasizing important centers such as Urbino, Pesaro, Faenza, Deruta, Castel Durante and Siena. A variety of plates, flasks, plaques, drug jars, inkstands, dishes, ewers and basins are represented. Dating from the late 15th century to around 1600, they are decorated in a broad range of patterns: some with geometric, floral and heraldic schemes, others with imaginary creatures, portraits, animals and figures of gods or saints. Maiolica was, above all, a painter's medium. The finest achievements of the maiolica workshops were the istoriato wares that literally tell stories. Complex narrative scenes painted on display plates or vases were derived from Greek and Roman mythology, allegory, ancient and contemporary history and literature.

Two plates are based on Raphael's famous tapestry design of "St. Paul Preaching at Athens." Another shows a scene from a relief on the Arch of Constantine in Rome which was engraved in the Renaissance and then adapted as a maiolica design by an anonymous Urbino artisan around 1575.

A fully illustrated 192-page color catalogue with an introductory essay by Wendy Watson and illustrated checklist of maiolica from the William A. Clark Collection not included in the exhibition accompanies the exhibition.

"Italian Renaissance Maiolica from the William A. Clark Collection" was co-organized by The Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C., and the Mount Holyoke College Art Museum and is supported by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. The exhibition is on a two-year tour of nine cities in the United States and Canada before returning to the Corcoran in September 1988.

would take responsibility if damage did occur.

After an hour of discussion, the planning board finally agreed that Watson should hold responsibility during construction with the town taking over liability after work is completed.

During the meeting, Webb maintained that over the past nine years runoff flowing from a neighboring farm pond through her swale has already worn away a chunk of her property. When Watson's subdivision is completed and begins feeding more rainwater into the pond, "I see my land slipping into the water and going downstream," she said.

"I don't disagree with Joe Watson's right to develop his land," she told the board in a clear, steady voice. "I just want someone...to assure me that if something fails, there will be someone behind me" to repair any damage.

Burton Shaker, a Lawrence-based lawyer representing Watson, didn't want that party to be his client.

"The main issue," he said, "is the effect of the subdivision's water flow into the pond." The impact on Webb's property would be negligible, Shaker emphasized.

Statistics compiled by an expert hired by Watson pointed out that a five-year storm would create water flow rushing about 20 to 25 feet per second, far below the swale's capacity of 42 feet per second, said William McCloud of Andover Consultants, Inc.

With the town engineer agreeing with McCloud, Planning Chairman Michael Houghton indicated there was no reason not to approve the subdivision.

Will the runoff cause harm to the Webb property? Houghton asked. "The Department of Public Works report says no. We have relied on John Avery in the past," said Houghton.

With that, Houghton seemed ready to ask for a vote.

But, before calling on the board to make a decision, he polled his colleagues and Board Member Russ Moran expressed reluctance to approve the subdivision without addressing Webb's concerns.

"I'm uncomfortable that nothing has been worked out" between Webb and Watson, he said. Moran called for a clear definition of responsibility to be written into any subdivision approval.

The board agreed that Watson should be responsible for any drainage problems that occurred during construction, and, based on the Public Work's report, the town would take responsibility afterwards.

Both Webb and Shaker said they approved of the board's action.

a dwelling.

—Contact with (non-student) clients shall be by telephone or off-premises meeting only.

Exceptions to the number of students allowed, the number of non-resident employees, whether clients are allowed on premises and if the business could be extended off-premises would be granted through the town Zoning Board of Appeals.

The board, including Houghton and Stott who indicated some conflict of interest, showed concern over a few of the limitations, in particular the ban on contact with clients. Hill convinced the board to leave the amendment to the voters in April.

The board also touched on complaints made by homeowners living by lots owned by contractors which neighbors say are filled with unsightly construction materials and heavy equipment in plain view.

Board Member Russ Moran supported requiring six foot fences to provide some relief. Joe Watson, who owns one such lot, said a fencing requirement is unreasonable and questioned the number of complaints received by town hall.

"I don't know of anybody who has complained," said Watson.

As with the other possible amendments, the board left the proposal intact for the town hall meeting to decide.

of the building are "very eye-pleasing, I think they've done a wonderful job here" said Richard Coleman, 69, of Andover.

Coleman did have some small complaints—the floor space is somewhat overcrowded, he said—but "it would be hard to say more until I see how they renovate the old library (the project's second phase)."

Mike Gorianski, a 58-year-old, self-employed Andover resident, said he is "still trying to get reacquainted" with the library, and agreed with Coleman that the building was overcrowded.

But still, he emphasized, there seemed to be more space than what existed in the old library and overall, "I like it," he said.

Sitting at a three-foot-high table, reading quietly with her five-year-old sister Angela, Maggie Yeh, 9, thought the children's section was definitely bigger and "has a lot of books."

Debbie O'Connell, 5, seemed a little intimidated talking with a strange reporter, but said she liked being able to cuddle on a carpeted ledge with her big, bearded father, four-year-old sister Laura, and listen to him read stories.

Designers

Sought

All Andover artists and graphic designers are invited to submit entries for the selection of a logo design to symbolize the 198 Marblehead Festival of Arts.

The Marblehead Festival of Arts will feature exhibits of works by Essex County artists, performing arts, a street festival and workshops from July 1-4.

Each year a new logo identifying the festival's summer exhibits and events is selected through a competition. The winning entry adorns T-shirts, posters, stationery and display materials.

Entrants must live in Essex County. Designs, which should symbolize the town of Marblehead, are limited to two colors in any medium and must include "Marblehead Festival of Arts, July 1 - July 4, 1988."

Each entry must be mounted on an 8x10" design board. The artist's name, address and telephone number must be placed on the back only. For black and white entries, color may be indicated on an overlay. No copyrighted designs will be accepted and the winning entry becomes the property of the Marblehead Festival of Arts, Inc.

Entrants may submit no more than five entries each. All entries must be received at Abbot Public Library, 235 Pleasant St., Marblehead, MA 01945 by 5 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 30.

Bottles

St. Robert Bellarmine Parish Youth Group is collecting donations of returnable bottles and cans throughout December. Donations may be deposited in a trailer in front of the church at 198 Hagggett's Pond Road, Andover. Large donations of bottles and cans will be picked up by calling St. Robert's Rectory.

To prevent leftover poultry stuffing from being too dry, add 1½ eggs to 1 cup of milk before baking a second time.

Elm Street Automotive: On Lupine Street

Elm Street Automotive is located at 9 Lupine Road in Andover. The name and address may baffle some newcomers, but the natives know that after many successful years at their old Elm Street address, owner Ron Abraham and his staff merely made a move. A wise move to a bigger and better location.

Elm Street Automotive has doubled their space, thus enlarging their working capacity. The new location is convenient from down town congestion and there is plenty of parking space.

Elm Street Automotive offers 24 hour towing and road service and since breakdowns never occur at a convenient time, this service is invaluable. Day or night, no matter what kind of vehicle you drive, Ron's fleet of towing vehicles, including a flatbed and a large wrecker for trucks, are ready and available to provide service to distressed motorists.

Elm Street Automotive is also in the business of preventing breakdowns. Bring your car in for regular tune-ups or prepare for winter by having them check your antifreeze and any other problems that might interfere with your cars performance in winter weather.

They offer complete automobile and light truck repairs for both foreign and domestic models.

Remember....only the location of Elm Street Automotive has changed. The name is the same, as is the phone number 475-5873. Open Monday thru Friday 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday 7 a.m. to noon. Master Charge and Visa accepted.

BUSINESS PROFILESBronco's Pub & Grill: A Family Restaurant

Two months ago, co-owners Steve Caruso and Scott Medico of Bronco's Pub & Grill located in Georgetown Center, Georgetown, held their Grand Opening and it's been grand ever since. The local residents and business people came in swarms, then returned, bringing their families and friends. The word is out, and now patrons from surrounding towns and cities, are flocking to this beautiful, country-casual restaurant.

Manager Scott Medico explained, "This is a family restaurant where children are welcomed. We have put together a special portion of the menu, catering to the kids' favorite foods."

But, for those of us who have out-grown the delight that a hot dog or 'burger can bring, Bronco's offers a menu chocked full of beef, chicken, pork, sausages and fish. If your desire is Italian food, Bronco's has brought in Chef Bubba, from the North End of Boston. By popular demand, Bronco's will soon be adding an "Italian" section to their all ready full menu, because his specialties have gone over so well. Chef Bubba's Shrimp Primavera and Linguini with Clam Sauce are the talk of the area. Just think....no longer do you have to travel to Boston for an Italian meal of such quality!

Just a few miles away, over scenic country roads, brings you to Bronco's Pub & Grill in Georgetown Center. If you're heavy-duty into sports, the Pub brings you the Celtics, Bruins, Patriot's games on their 41 inch TV console. On Monday nights a free buffet is provided.

Starting in January, there will be an X-Press lunch—where you'll be in and out in a half hour. A Sunday Brunch will also be featured.

Tuesday is Senior Citizens day, with a 10% discount. If your planning an office Christmas Party, why not call Scott at 352-7722 for further details.

Lucille Giannone puts the finishing touches on her Victorian Christmas tree.

Creations Unlimited: The Design and Craft Store

Want to take the commercialism out of the holidays? It's easy! Make it yourself! Don't say you can't! Think positive! Go to Creations Unlimited. Take a look around. Suddenly you too will have that "can-do" feeling. All the necessary parts and pieces are there. All you have to do is put them all together.

Now, don't get discouraged. There are how-to books and pamphlets to guide you through the simplest projects, to the more difficult ones. Lucille Giannone, owner of Creations Unlimited, and her staff will also answer questions and will gladly advise you on the "how's" and "why's". After completion of one project, you'll realize your a lot more talented than you thought you were.

Since moving to larger quarters at 15 Union Street in Lawrence, Creations Unlimited is able to offer you broader lines of merchandise and stock in quantity. Still, they have the base to work with many qualities. Therefore, every price range is available.

Among some of the newest items in stock are natural bark trees, fashion color flowering trees, poinsettias in such unusual hues as salmon and blue, as well as the traditional red. And, remember Creations Unlimited has the largest selection of ribbons in the Merrimack Valley.

Look over the array of silk flowers. Remember, silk is forever! Create arrangements to brighten up your home or to give as gifts. If you get stuck, bring your container or vase in. They'll be glad to give you advise and help you in your choice of materials.

During the holiday season, Creations Unlimited has extended their hours. Mon., Wed., Thur., 9 to 5. Tues. and Fri., 9 to 8. Sun. 1 to 5. During evenings and Saturdays there is parking in the rear of the building and a rear entrance. Telephone 682-0186 for information regarding up-coming classes and further information.

Realty U.S.A.
Schrander Real Estate

GETTING A HOME INSPECTED

If you're in the market for a new home, it's occurred to you that a house is probably the most complicated consumer purchase that you will ever make. Between the plumbing, heating system, roof, wiring and appliances, you may wonder how you can be certain that, once you own a house, everything will work. One way to ensure peace of mind is to arrange a professional home inspection before you finalize the transaction.

The home inspector doesn't decide whether the house passes or fails, but gives you some idea of what you're buying. He can go over the structure to make sure it is sound. He will check out all of the major systems and any appliances to see that they are in working order and to give you some idea of their life expectancies. He can also explain how things work, such as the circuit breaker or emergency water cutoff valve. The inspection process can help you make an informed buying decision and plan your budget for any improvements you may want to make on the property.

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Realty USA Schrander Real Estate. Call us at 685-5000 or stop by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover.

HOME EQUITY LOAN LOOPHOLE

QUESTION: Is it true that I can borrow money on my home equity, deduct the interest on the loan and use the funds to purchase a car, vacation or any other big-ticket item?

ANSWER: This is one of the unabashed loopholes provided to homeowners. Although the Tax Reform Act phases out the deductibility of interest on car loans, credit cards and other consumer borrowing, you can get around this restriction with a home equity loan. Interest on such borrowing remains deductible, regardless of how you spend the money, as long as the total borrowed on your first and second mortgages and home equity loan doesn't exceed the purchase price of the home plus the cost of any improvements.

More good news. Interest on a home equity loan used for educational or medical expenses is FULLY deductible if it does not exceed the current MARKET value of the home less other outstanding mortgages. Also, interest on such a loan taken out on or before August 16, 1986 is fully deductible.

The Key to Results in Real Estate

Parents Rallying Support For Proposed Collaborative School

About 50 parents from Andover and Lawrence turned out Monday night to show support for a proposed collaborative school between the two cities.

Although some meetings have previously been sparsely attended, the group has been stung recently by criticism from parents opposed to the project.

An Oct. 29 article in The Townsman and stories in the Eagle-Tribune detailed organized opposition to the collaborative school, which would be located on the Lawrence/Andover border.

Parents attending Monday night's meeting expressed their solidarity and commitment to the project and fired back a few rounds at the school's critics.

Some of those attending called members of the opposing group bigots who held predisposed views towards Lawrence citizens.

In response to the opposition, supporters of the plan will be starting a grassroots campaign to win approval from the Lawrence city council and at the Andover town meeting in April.

As part of the campaign, they will be holding further meetings, holding rallies and plan an advertising campaign.

The proposed collaborative school is tentatively set to be built on a 26 acre site off Beacon Street in Andover.

School officials have called the concept an equal education opportunity project that is an exciting chance to combine the efforts and ideas from two communities.

Under current plans, the school is set to be all-volunteer, both students and faculty.

About 800 children from Lawrence and 400 Andover kids would attend the K-8 grade school. Teachers would be drawn from the local school systems and be given a leave of absence from their regular jobs to work at the collaborative school, say school officials.

These instructors would receive higher pay, work longer hours and become more involved with the curriculum, officials add.

Under the current plan, the state will be asked to pick up part of the tab.

If legislation currently being drafted is passed, Massachusetts would pay approximately 56 percent of the $6 million budget projected for the collaborative school.

In addition, the state would also pay for all site preparation and construction costs, according to Dennis Richards, project director.

Project opponents have raised concerns that if Andover parents don't send their children to the new school, that, faced with the state pulling funds from a failed project, the Andover school system will "draft" students into the school.

Andover school officials have denied this.

The project will come up before Andover and Lawrence school committees for approval in January.

Pets

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals asks pet owner, "Is your pet safe this holiday season?"

A house full of seasonal plants, decorations and treats may spell disaster if special precautions are not taken to keep pets away from the following:

Poinsettias, holly and mistletoe are poisonous when ingested.

Tinsel, ornaments and lights when broken or ingested may cause serious injuries.

Chocolate can be fatal to pets as well as poultry bones which easily splinter and lodge in the throat.

Choose pet toys that are non-toxic and without removable parts
